

Megan Stanley

Chief Human Resources Officer

 Minneapolis, MN

 612-337-2592

 stanley@fr.com

Overview

About Megan

Ms. Stanley is responsible for the development and implementation of innovative HR strategies and programs designed to enhance the employee experience and align the firm's professional staff with the overall strategic direction of the firm. Working with a dedicated HR team, Megan provides strategic leadership in the areas of employee relations, compensation, benefits, performance management, training and development, recognition, non-attorney recruiting, and HR systems.

In addition to overseeing these functions for the firm's 13 U.S. and international offices, she serves as the Chairperson of the Retirement Committee.

Prior to joining Fish and Richardson in 2012, Ms. Stanley's career has focused on human resources management, shaping her understanding of the often shifting needs of a multi-office, global law firm and includes experience in leading organizations through large-scale transformations and increasing employee engagement.

Education

B.S., Human Resources and Industrial Relations, University of Minnesota

Recognition

2018 Recipient of the Minnesota Lawyer Unsung Legal Hero Award

Memberships & Affiliations

Member of Society of Human Resources Management, Association of Legal Administrators, and active in various charitable organizations

Chairperson of the firm's Retirement Committee