

Philip Brown

Associate

 Dallas, TX

 214-292-4042

 pgbrown@fr.com

Overview

---

About Philip

Philip Brown practices intellectual property litigation. He has broad experience with a range of trial and pre-trial matters in district court litigation, arbitration, inter partes review, and the ITC, including discovery; drafting primary filings for patent cases; and researching and drafting memos, briefs, and motions on issues including invalidity, infringement, and claim construction. Philip has experience working with technology in a wide range of fields, including electronics, automotive, and medical devices. Philip has also practiced in the United States Patent and Trademark Office, assisting clients with drafting patent applications, reissue claims, and office action responses, as well as handling examiner interviews. His technical background is in electrical engineering, with significant experience in software development and testing in the automotive industry. During law school, Philip was the executive editor of the Michigan Telecommunications and Technology Law Review.

**Admitted only in Illinois. Not admitted to practice in Texas. Work conducted in Texas is directly supervised by a member of the Texas bar or is limited to federal courts or agencies listed below or otherwise authorized by law.*

Focus Areas

---

Services

- Litigation
- Post-Grant

- Commercial Litigation
- eDiscovery
- ITC Litigation
- Patent Litigation
- Product Liability and Mass Torts

Industries

- Consumer Products
- Digital Media and E-Commerce
- Electrical and Computer Technology
- Internet
- Manufacturing
- Medical Devices
- Telecommunications
- Transportation

Education

---

J.D., University of Michigan Law School (2020) Michigan Telecommunications and Technology Law Review, Executive Editor

B.S. summa cum laude, University of Michigan (2016)

Insights

---

Publications

- “Texas Patent Litigation Monthly Wrap-Up — December 2021,” Fish Litigation Blog (January 15, 2022)